Our English Relations

NEW YORK, June 11.—A Washington special says the President before leaving the city told a prominent member of the Senate and Foreign Committee that in his judgment the British Ministry had no intention of allowing the treaty to fail. Gladstone on the Treaty

LONDON, June 11.—In the House of Commons to-day Gladstone stated that the present condition of the Alabama negotiations were such that he favored the proposition to the United States for the postponement of the meeting of the Geneva Board for eight months, which information was already known through the specials from America to the English press.

Osborn asked whether the dispatch purporting to be from Grant proposing a postponement of the Geneva tribunal was genuine. He considered it humiliating and undignified.

[illegible] said that [illegible] was [illegible] and defended the proposition as beneficial to both parties.

Disraeli strongly opposed the proposition for postponement, particularly while a heated Presidential contest was in progress in the United States. He believed that the policy of the Government would end in disaster and disgrace.

Lord [illegible] and Bentinck, Lord Yarmouth, Sir [illegible], [illegible] and others severely criticised the Government, expressing a want of confidence in future proceedings.

Gladstone defended the Government at great length and closed with the declaration that it would be a crime to deviate a hair's breadth from the [illegible] position ... the House of Lords.

Granville made his statement ... on Saturday. It became known that the American and British Governments would fail for want of time to come to an agreement in regard to the supplemental article. The difficulty between them related to the future bearing of the conditions. Americans censured the English objections as hypocrisy. He had consented to the idea for adjournment of the Geneva Board to give time for removal of difficulties.

To-morrow the British agent and representatives start for Geneva, for it would be dignified and courteous to appear before the arbitrators whatever circumstances might arise. Instructions and full [illegible] have been given them.

THE TERRITORIES

The prospects for a very creditable celebration of the Fourth at Olympia are good.

An attempt at burglary was made on the store of M. A. Scott at Olympia last Sunday, but it failed.

General Carlee, of Boise City, has a splendid looking Durham cow about six years old, that he has been offered $500 for.

We learn from a reliable source that the total value of all the assessable property of Clarke county this year foots up the amount of $[illegible].

On Wednesday the Register and Receiver sold at their offices in Olympia 330,000 feet of saw logs recently seized and held by Captain Tuttle down the Sound.

W. B. Sinclair, a well known citizen of Washington Territory, died on Whidbye Island last Wednesday. He was at the time of his death Inspector of Customs.

The following item is taken from the Idaho World of the [illegible]: A serious affray occurred in Donohoe's saloon, on Wall street, in Idaho City, about 2 o'clock on yesterday morning, between Mr. Peter Donohoe and Mr. William Kearney. There appears to have been an old grudge between the parties, and meeting at the above mentioned place a quarrel ensued. The lie passed, when Donohoe struck Kearney and a fight ensued, in which Donohoe was badly cut about the [illegible]. The wounded man now lies in a critical condition. He is under the care of Dr. James Healy, who is unable as yet to determine what will be the result. Kearney surrendered himself to the authorities, and the examination was postponed until to-morrow, with bail fixed at $3,000 by Justice Wickersham.

Peaceable Secession

WHAT HORACE GREELEY THOUGHT OF IT BEFORE AND DURING THE WAR

From the N. Y. Tribune, Nov. 9, 1860.

If the cotton States shall become satisfied that they can do better out of the Union than in it, we insist on letting them go in peace. The right to secede may be a revolutionary one, but it exists nevertheless. * * * We must ever resist the right of any State to remain in the Union and nullify and defy the laws thereof.

From the N. Y. Tribune, Nov. 26, 1860.

If the cotton States unitedly and earnestly wish to withdraw peacefully from the Union, we think they should be allowed to do so. Any attempt to compel them by force to remain would be contrary to the principles enunciated in the immortal Declaration of Independence, contrary to the fundamental ideas on which human liberty is based.

From the N. Y. Tribune, Dec. 17, 1860.

If it (the Declaration of Independence) justified the secession from the British Empire of three millions of colonists in 1776, we do not see why it would not justify the secession of five millions of Southrons from the Federal Union in 1861. If we are mistaken on this point, why does not some one attempt to show wherein and why? For our own part, while we deny the right to slaveholders to hold slaves against the will of the latter, we cannot see why twenty millions of people can rightfully hold ten, or even five, in a detested Union with them by military force.

From the N. Y. Tribune, Feb. 23, 1861.

We have repeatedly said, and we once more insist, that the great principle embodied by Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence, that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, is sound and just, and that if the slave States, the cotton States or the Gulf States only choose to form an independent nation, they have a clear moral right to do so. * * * Whenever it shall be clear that the great body of the Southern people have become conclusively alienated from the Union, and anxious to escape from it, we will do our best to forward their views.

DEMOCRATIC DISSATISFACTION.—Judge Caton, of Illinois, a prominent Democrat, has written a letter to the Chicago Times, in which he thus testifies to the general demoralization of his party and the causes of it:

You think I assume too much when I say [illegible] necessarily to be made between Mr. Greeley and Mr. Grant. Would that I [illegible] that we could have a wider range of choice. If our party were drilled to the discipline it once was, if we could count upon every Democratic vote in the country, if we could kindle in them that enthusiasm which can alone be aroused by confident hope, then we might have some chance of electing a majority of the electoral votes, inasmuch as a plurality vote in most of the States will elect electors.

But in my judgment, our party is so demoralized we cannot depend upon all the voters who have acted with us.

And he proceeds to say further:

The truth is we are hopelessly demoralized, and the course of events for the last two months has done more to produce this state of things than all our disasters in the last twelve years. Hence it is that I think it would be impossible to unite our party with all its strength on any candidate [illegible] might name, no matter how [illegible].

[illegible] Democrats [illegible] plain [illegible] very plain one. If you are fighting against Grant for principles that we [illegible] just [illegible] support [illegible] ticket. If [illegible] fighting [illegible] only, then we can comprehend why you insist that we must furnish the candidates while we furnish the votes.

Mr. B. Gratz Brown, Governor of Missouri and Civil Reform candidate for Vice President, thinks men should not be turned out of office for political reasons. But he has turned every Irishman in his State out of office to make room for others for undenied and simon pure political reasons.

A German paper, the Fremden Blatt, devoted to the interests of travelers and tourists, says that Germany is visited annually by twenty thousand Americans, who spend there no less than twenty million dollars.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN STATES

Postponement of the Arbitration

NEW YORK, June 12.—A Washington special says yesterday the British Minister received a telegram from Earl Granville stating that at a Cabinet meeting it had been decided to send another note to Minister Schenck informing him that the representatives are instructed to go to Geneva on the 15th inst. and submit to the arbitrators a request for an extension of time, on the plea that the difficulties between the two Governments have not been solved, and remarks upon the subject matter of reference to arbitrators that the British Government declines to put in their argument as required by the treaty, or to take any other step in the arbitration at the present time, and further should any adjournment be ordered in accordance with what England believes within the authority and power of a court of her Majesty's Government reserves all its rights as heretofore to retire from the arbitration whenever it may think proper. No answer will probably be sent to the last proposition, as the ultimatum of our Government is in the supplemental article, and if the English argument is not filed on the 15th it will be regarded as a desire to terminate the arbitration, and a failure of this arbitration involves the whole treaty.

Geneva Conference

NEW YORK, June 12.—A special dispatch from London says that the assemblage of Geneva arbitrators is the great subject of discussion there. No provision in the treaty requires a meeting of the arbitrators on June 15th, but they had intended a meeting on that day, as both Governments must then deliver their final papers, or if the tribunal assembles they must close their arguments. The difficulty of the case is that England requests the United States to join in a postponement of the meeting. If England asks for a postponement, the request involves a consent to a violation of the treaty, or to a purpose contrary to the American views. The general feeling in Europe is that England is afraid of the arbitrators. It is said in high quarters that Russian money is operating against England.

Count Catacazy is mentioned as continuing on this side of the Atlantic to work for that for which he was expelled from Washington. It is believed Gortschakoff's diplomacy and purse are opponents too formidable to be safely encountered.

The Bible in Public Schools

The New York State Superintendent of Public Instruction has decided against the exclusion of reading of the bible in public schools.

Cuban Sympathizers

It is stated that a large number of Cuban sympathizers, including General Ryan, left here in two schooners and were seen off Barnegate transferring cargo to a vessel supposed to be the Fannie. It is believed that their ultimate destination is Cuba.

Maryland Democrats.

BALTIMORE, June 12.—At the Democratic primaries yesterday a select convention nominated delegates to the Democratic State Convention. Every ward elected Greeley delegates.

Indiana Democratic State Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 12.—The Democratic State Convention met at 10 o'clock this morning, a full delegation being present from every county in the State. A temporary organization was dispensed with and Hon. John R. Croffoth was unanimously chosen permanent President and Col. Bayley Principal Secretary. A committee on resolutions and a committee to select delegates to the Baltimore Convention were appointed. A motion to appoint a committee to select an electoral ticket met with considerable opposition, but was finally carried by a vote of nearly two to one. Thomas H. Hendricks was then nominated for Governor by acclamation with enthusiastic applause.

MEXICO

Revolutionists Checked

MATAMORAS, June 12.—Gen. Catacazy telegraphs to-day that he has established headquarters at Comargo, having repulsed several attempts of the revolutionists to advance on the frontier, and will be able to check their breach on Matamoras. He is quite confident of the ability of the Government to retrieve the late disaster.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—The Superintendent of the Raymond and Ely mining Company, now in the city, claims that the ore body in that mine is a true fissure and not simply a deposit as has been popularly supposed. He says the ore body is found in a true fissure vein, as can be shown, the ore showing for 550 feet in uninterrupted sloping ground in 323 foot level, and being continuous from top to bottom, requiring scarcely an effort to follow vertically or horizontally.

It is reported that Collector Shannon will report to the Secretary of the Treasury for the removal of all employes in the Custom House who are favorable to the election of Greeley.

An object supposed to be either a wreck or the dead carcass of a whale was seen floating outside the Heads to-day. The steamer Oriflamme, bound for Portland, went four miles out of the way to what it was, but as she did not stop it is supposed not to have been a wreck.

Dr. Cole has determined at length to act as Grand Marshal for the Fourth.

Ten thousand gallons of wine were shipped to the East by the ship Gen. McLellan, yesterday.

Ex Collector Phelps, now East as one of the representatives of the city of San Francisco in opposition to the cession of Goat Island, is out in a card denying that he went over the Central Pacific road on a free pass.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The Fire Department will meet to-night and make arrangements for the celebration of the Fourth of July.

Stocks weakened again pretty generally to-day, only a few on the list holding their own. Sales for the day 14,519 shares, of which 5,140 were sold at the afternoon Board.

Wm. Carrigan, Charles Roach and Nellie Moore were sent up for trial to-day for highway robbery, committed on a soldier.

A prominent wine dealer is confident that the vintage of 1872 in this State, notwithstanding the late frosts, will be considerably greater than last season.

At a private German picnic at Saucelito yesterday a most disgraceful row occurred. One of the party got drunk and fell overboard, and on being rescued and landed on the wharf knocked his rescuer down. He then attacked a man named Stone, who struck him over the head with a cane, which was broken in two by the blow, and then as he followed up the attack Stone stabbed him some thirty times in the face with the broken cane, terribly gashing and mutilating him. The fellow then went for a Spaniard who had nothing to do with the party or the fight, and assaulted him, whereupon the Spaniard split him open on the back like a mackerel with a blow from a knife, making a wound over ten inches in length. Stone took refuge from the attack of the wounded man's friends in the pilot house of the steamer, and on the way over to the city they demanded the surrender of the captain and crew. The captain armed the steamer's crew and kept them at bay until the steamer reached Meiggs' wharf, and then took him back to Marin county and landed him there.

One of the crew of the Hertha having been put in irons for expressing International proclivities, was temporarily released while the steamer was in this port, and succeeded in making good his escape to the interior. He will not sail on the steamer to-morrow.

KNIGHTS LANDING, June 12.—The dwelling house and buildings of the dairy and cheese factory of Jackson, Wilcox & Fremont were entirely consumed by fire last night. The fire was so intense that an iron safe in the house was melted. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Colonel Rockerby, of Cincinnati celebrity, visits San Francisco to-morrow to inaugurate the Greeley campaign.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Executive Committee of One Hundred has been in session this afternoon receiving the report of Messrs. Hagerbneath and Hopkins, on the size of the different railroad depot grounds at the East which they visited. They state that the very largest roads occupy from 3 to 16 acres only for terminal purposes.

Weather very pleasant and moderately warm.

The new silver mines north of Pioche, in Eastern Nevada, are attracting increased attention. Dr. DeGroot, a well known mining expert, who returned from Schellburn last night, reports more favorably than any who have previously visited these mines.

General David F. Douglass, Secretary of State under Governor Johnson, is reported very dangerously ill at his farm in San Joaquin county.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

STOCKTON, June 12.—The steamer Tulare leaves for Upper San Joaquin to-morrow. The water is very high and navigable to the highest point.

A number of delegates and sympathizers visit San Francisco next week to attend the Woman's Suffrage Convention.

General Douglas is lying dangerously ill with typhoid pneumonia at his residence on the Calaveras.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

JACKSONVILLE, June 12.—The weather continues warm and dry; crops are in a suffering condition and flour has advanced to $35 per thousand.

There's possum in Tennessee! It is of the Republican persuasion this time, however. The Democrats have endorsed Greeley, and nominated a State ticket. The Republicans being in a helpless minority propose to adopt a State passive policy, and support an independent or conservative State ticket if the conservatives will support Grant in return. If this very sensible and practical idea is carried out, the volunteer State will be recovered from the hands of the Democracy.

A favored Anglo-Saxon printer in Galveston, who worked for G. T. Ruby, a colored man, struck the other day because Mr. Ruby employed a negro to work in the same office. The uncompromising and highly absurd Anglo-Saxon was willing to work for but not with a colored man.

A man who was delivering a public address in Massachusetts, the other evening, stepped over the edge of his platform, and striking on his feet calmly continued: "to come down to the level of my audience—"

HARVESTER YOUNG AMERICA.

A LIGHT, STRONG AND DURABLE MACHINE; weighs fifteen hundred and forty pounds, and is operated with four horses and two men, can cut from ten to fifteen acres per day, and is a thoroughly practical machine; is not liable to get out of order, as there is less gearing in the combined machine—cutting, threshing, cleaning and sacking the grain—than in some of the self-raking harvesters now in use. The work of harvesting is reduced to one-fifth the labor and saves more than can be done by any other machine. The practical work of the machine is, that cutting a six foot swathe, it is carried to the Cylinder five feet in cutting ... one foot, in stopping in heavy grain, the motion of the [illegible] will clean up the machine and put the last [illegible] in the sack before the motion is run down.

When starting, the machine will get motion enough to thrash and clean the grain before it reaches the cylinder on the feed belt. The tender has full control of the cutting bar and raises or lowers it at his pleasure. The sacking and tying up the bags in from 12 to 20 rods and delivering them in the slide constitutes all his work, and will not keep a man actively engaged more than one-fourth the time. The machine will cut down to six or up to thirty inches.

The Patent was granted June 28, 1864, and the machine has been experimented with until we have got a thoroughly practical machine. We ran one in Logan county, Ill., the last harvest.

Practical farmers have figured the saving per day on this machine, over the other Harvesters, at from fifty to sixty dollars, thus paying for the machine in twenty days in clear saving, and the harvesting done with less work and trouble. The machine was run in 1867 on the farm of E. K. Paden, Lawrence county.

HARVESTER YOUNG AMERICA.

I have the control of the above named machine for the State of Oregon, Washington and Idaho Territories, and British Columbia. I have ten machines on the way for introduction at the present harvest, which I will sell one each, to reliable parties, in the following named counties, who will introduce the same, for $1,600 each: Umpqua, Linn, Lane, Marion, Polk, Yamhill, Washington, Clackamas and Umatilla. Owing to delays in consummating my arrangements the above machines will not be ready for delivery before the 10th or 15th of July. I expect to have one on [illegible] the [illegible] of July. I have a person coming from the manufactory who will set each machine in complete running order and guarantee it will perform all that is proclaimed. Also have the agency for the [illegible] Rake and have 150 Coquillard Wagons coming for harvest use. Address H. H. TOBLE,

THURSDAY MORNING JUNE 13, 1872

Position of the Two Parties

The attitude of the two political parties of the country in regard to their respective National Conventions vividly illustrates the contrast between them. The great masses of Republican voters throughout the Union in their primaries county and State conventions, and through their delegates to the Philadelphia Convention declared their choice for President, looking to that Convention to put upon record the popular decree and formally proclaim not only the candidate chosen by the masses of the party but also in a great measure the platform on which he should stand. This is and was so because Republicanism is composed of principles which are understood and appreciated by the people and because the acts of its party speak for themselves, and both principles and acts commend the party to the good judgment and sound sense of the masses.

On the other hand the masses of the Democracy do not pretend or presume to have any opinions of their own on these questions but almost universally leave these matters to the Baltimore Convention, just as the Greeley platform leaves the tariff question to the several Congressional districts. The organs of the Democratic party throughout the country unhesitatingly express their willingness to bow with blind and passive obedience to the action of that Convention, no matter what new departure it may take or how widely such departure may deviate from the usually accepted creed of the party. Show us a Republican who did not have a pretty well defined idea before the Philadelphia Convention met what principles would be orthodox in the campaign. Such a one cannot be found. The Democrats themselves knew what the substance of the Republican platform would be as well as who would be the Republican candidate, for the people had spoken upon these questions through the press, on the rostrum and at the ballot box in no unmistakable voice. But where is the Democrat who can tell us what issue his party will raise in this campaign, or what principles will be promulgated by the Baltimore Convention, save and except it may be found in the expressive and lately adopted motto of that party of time honored principles, "anything to beat Grant." The members of that party look with as much patience and expectancy to the Baltimore Convention to prescribe their political faith for this year as good Catholics looked to the Œcumenical Council at Rome for an authoritative definition of what dogmas they were expected to believe. And the Democrats would as soon think of naming the next Pope as of anticipating to any extent the action of the College of Cardinals to assemble at Baltimore in July by any important expression of a choice of their own either as to candidates or platform. This passive and blind waiting for the bidding of a master is attributable to the demoralized condition of the party, which has so widely departed from its old land marks and has gone wandering about in the sea of political economy seeking some vulnerable fortress of its opponents, instead of being guided by the pole-star of political wisdom, or establishing positions of its own on the firm rock of principles; because that party has for years had no settled course or fixed opinions. Its new departures, possum policy, etc., have demoralized its members, broken up its organization, and defeated its every attempt to gain place and power with the people.

In the Republican party the people rule and conventions are but the obedient agents which record the popular choice, while in the Democratic all power of choice is relegated to the central authority, and the dumb masses wait to be told by their leaders where to go and what to do. Of course there are many exceptions to the general suspension of judgment, but if the attitude of the party is at all correctly interpreted by the great majority of its organs, it may be summed up in the statement that they are willing to sacrifice everything which has heretofore been cherished as Democratic, simply to gain success at the polls; that principles are nothing, but that triumph—which with them means power and plunder is everything and that to [illegible] these ends they are willing to vote for any one or anything their leaders may dictate as being most likely to again place them in power, even to giving their support to the life long enemy of the Democratic party, whose whole ideas of government are so essentially and radically antagonistic to those which have so long been proclaimed as characteristically and eternally Democratic. It is impossible to imagine a position which could be taken by any party which could be more humiliating, more disgraceful, more immoral, more thoroughly corrupt or politically base, than this. The people of the United States have already had sad reason to know the ingrained depravity of the Democratic party resulting from the bent originally given to it by its slavery and secession affiliations, and from its consequent affinity for nearly every vicious, uncivilized and reactionary element of society in our midst, so that what was only originally a depraved moral basis has become a corrupt constituency to whose level its politics are all graded, and to which all its politicians unhesitatingly descend. But corrupt and unscrupulous as the Democratic leaders, with some few exceptions, have shown themselves to be the people were scarcely prepared for the acknowledgment now made that the principles of Government for which they have so long and fiercely contended were mere political catchwords, that their whole past political history has been a monstrous cheat and humbug, and the sole aim and object of the existence of the Democratic party has been place and pelf. The leaders, with but few exceptions, again all agree on this one point, that the action of their approaching national Convention is to be determined entirely by questions of expediency and that no question of Democratic principle is to enter into its decision at all, save some such deference to prejudices on this score as may be necessary to catch votes, but that the great ruling question to be decided is what course will be most likely to ensure success. To accomplish this, these leaders manifest a decided willingness to surrender the entire party like an army of mercenaries to any General who promises a favorable opportunity of plunder and engage to fight under any flag which inscribes "booty" on its folds. Thus to day stand the two parties which have fought each other in the political arena of this country for years past—the Republicans harmonious, enthusiastic, active and determined, adhering to their principles and relying upon their record in the past to commend them to the support and confidence of the people, the Democrats divided, apathetic and undecided, making new departures, clinging to expedients and trusting in specious promises of impossibilities, an unfounded uproar about corruption and a blind unthinking opposition to the Administration to win them a way to power. Which of these two is most likely to succeed?

Slowly Coming

It was stated on [illegible] this morning as the [illegible] we might have [illegible] by [illegible] the result nearly entire before our readers but we regret to say that [illegible] official figures but from all the information in our possession Hon. J. G. Wilson's majority in the State is 475 votes. The official count of Jackson county may vary this a few votes but we think the result is just about as above [illegible]. In addition to the returns already published we learn that Grant elected the entire Republican ticket except Clerk and gave Judge Wilson a majority of one vote. The vote in Union county stood Wilson 403, Burnett 511; Burnett's majority 108. For State Senator, Hanna, Rep 497, Hendershott, Dem 479; Hanna's majority 18. For Representatives, Norville, Rep 334, Andrews, Dem 351; Andrews's majority 17. For Joint Representative, White, Rep 456, Wright, Dem 488; Wright's majority, 32.

But the Oregonian seems to expect that the Democratic press will object to the extension of the Ku Klux act. Why?—Herald.

To ask why Republicans should expect such would be the case, presupposes that they have not read the history of the country at all. You object to it because those whose crimes it punishes are your political friends, because your party has its members in the Southern States who, by their lawless acts propose to drive out Republican leaders from that country and awe the masses of voters into submission, and this law will prevent the accomplishment of their designs. You object to it because every one whom that law touches are Democrats, and "no rogue e'er felt the halter draw, with good opinion of the law." We expected you to object to it because you have opposed all good measures promulgated by the Republican party for the restoration of law and order throughout the country from the fall of Fort Sumter until now, because your nature as a party has become such that you object to everything you don't do yourselves. These are the reasons for our expectation that you would object to the extension of this wise and humane measure, which has for its object the suppression of crimes which members of your own party after investigation, have denounced as disgraceful to the civilization of the age.

The Herald in its issue of Tuesday attributed certain language to Attorney General Williams in his speech last Saturday night which that gentleman did not use. What General Williams said about "vagabonds" was this: "Railroad men certainly have as much right to the elective franchise as vagabond Democrats." Will the Herald deny that they have, or does it insist that the inference drawn from its local report of the election that men who work on railroads are not part of the people, is correct? We presume the Herald was misinformed as to the language used by General Williams.

Only one voice was wanted to save New York from plunder. It was Hoffman's signature to the new reform charter. He refused to give it. The Tammany robbers are holding a jubilee.

OREGON

The Statesman reports three cases of small pox at Albany, in the family of Jack Alphin.

There is to be a grand mass meeting of the friends of temperance, at Salem, this evening.

The Ensign says that Roseburg was lively on election day. Fights were too numerous to mention in detail.

Norman Parish, brother of our County Clerk had his leg broken in a game of foot ball at Salem, last Tuesday.

A lot of "pi" was made in the Roseburg Ensign office last week, and so the paper comes to us on a half sheet.

Rather a serious affray took place at Oakland June 1st, in which one man was shot and wounded, and another seriously cut with a knife.

Haying has commenced in the Umpqua Valley. The hay crop is going to be light on account of the late dry weather. The grain crop will be light in that valley also.

A Turn Verein Society has been organized at Salem and the following officers chosen: President, J. H. Haas; Secretary, Mr Lampert; Treasurer, P. J. [illegible].

W. W. Brown, an old and highly respected citizen of Yamhill county, died at his residence in Amity last Monday and was buried Tuesday with Masonic rites by the fraternity at that place.

Thirteen hundred dollars have been raised in Salem to buy a town clock. Two hundred more are needed. Portland has a town clock that she would do well to sell at first cost, or else have it lighted nights.

Mr. Neil, who was nominated at the Democratic State Convention for District Attorney, in the First Judicial district, but was afterwards taken off the ticket by the Democratic County Convention in Jackson and Josephine counties, was elected by a handsome majority, being supported by the Independent Democrats and Republicans in Jackson, and the Republicans throughout the District.

From the Treasurer's report to the Grand Lodge of Good Templars we gather the following as to the financial condition of that body: Received per W. B. Carter $211; received for dues, $2,116.54; received for supplies $372.14; total received and paid to Grand Lodge, $2,107.95. Disbursements—Sundries $2,122.57; balance in hand after paying all orders drawn $329.15. Assets—Cash in hand, $329.15; supplies per inventory $162; due for Lodges, $19; due for personal accounts $114; office property per inventory $55.42; total, $2,109.60. Liabilities—Amount due Lodges, 13.25.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars now in session at Salem is well attended and the reports of the various officers show the Order to be in a flourishing condition. The following items of interest relating to the Order are taken from the G. W. Secretary's report: Number of Lodges reported last year 56; number of Lodges organized, 16; number of Lodges ceased working 10; present number 81; initiated, 1,461; admitted by card, 103; reinstated, 31; total membership, 1,635; cards granted 240; resigned 282; suspended 463; expelled, 120; deaths, 7; total 1,112; increase as per Lodge reports 583; total membership April 30, 15,2[illegible] with 30 Lodges to hear from, 2,315; estimated membership 5,315.

Our Hillsboro correspondent says: "A large force of workmen are engaged at work on the brick Court House in Hillsboro. It is now finished to the first floor. Mr. Orrin Kellogg is making arrangements to build a fine brick store. The fine tin and stove shop will be completed this week. Several buildings are in course of erection this summer, yet one building is not equal to the demand for tenement houses. Every house in Hillsboro is now occupied. It is very gratifying to notice the rapid improvements at this place, Cornelius and Forest Grove. Washington county bids fair to double her population in the next two years. Gardens and late crops are suffering for rain and the farmers have no hope of rain except the M. E. Church's two days of camp meeting, to be held between Hillsboro and Cornelius the last Saturday and Sunday in June should bring on a shower."

LETTER FROM SALEM

SALEM, June 10, 1872.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

The election results come in so surprisingly that we are not surprised at anything any more, for even Marion county, of which we had ceased to expect great things, comes up to our highest expectations on the vote for Congressman and [illegible]. [illegible] Polk county has [illegible]. Mr. [illegible] Gibson, who lives across the river yesterday morning, received information from the County Clerk at Dallas that a mistake had occurred in counting the vote and [illegible] one majority. One is not much, but it is enough to elect even over in Polk.

[illegible]

The weather has been rather dry of late and the farmers are commencing to have fears that the late sown wheat will make a short crop. All wheat put in last fall promises well and even that put in during the winter will pay well, but our farmers have a habit of sowing wheat through April and sometimes even in May, and unless we have more rains than we are likely to have April sowing will not do well. It is safe to expect a yield that in the aggregate will afford us a greater surplus than any former year for a greater amount of wheat has been sown.

[illegible]

Last year we came short in the supply of potatoes, certainly a staple article that must be had by every family, and as a consequence we had to import the precious tubers from famine stricken California. How California happened to have potatoes to sell in a year of such excessive drought I cannot imagine unless they raised them by successful irrigation. The present protracted dry and heated spell threatens to make us go elsewhere again for "spuds" next winter, and as our producers are very sensitive about strictures from the press and as what Horace Greeley knows about farming won't be finally decided until next fall, I respectfully suggest that irrigation will certainly bring any thing in the vegetable line to perfection, however dry the season. Chances to secure cheap and sufficient irrigation exist all through this valley and should be improved. This is the only course that will insure us independence in that line. We hear it frequently declared that no one can explain where our money has gone to and why times are not more lively and cash abundant. Considering that California vegetables have been sold all winter from Astoria to Roseburg and have been very liberally imported, the answer does not seem to me hard to arrive at. The only way to active financial independence is to raise and produce and manufacture as much as possible at home. If we send away wool and wheat to buy vegetables and fruits with there is a possibility that a big leak needs stopping somewhere. Our farmers fail in nothing in vegetables, but are more successful in [illegible] but we must be careful and [illegible] on them.

FRUITS INJURED.

While on this topic, I must mention that we also have a dull prospect as to fruit, for the late frosts nipped everything of the sort so that even the wild strawberries are [illegible]. There are occasional localities which escaped one, fortunately being my own little garden, but even the apple trees are generally barren while stone fruits have been literally slaughtered, and grapes badly injured. It seems to be conceded that the injury to all sorts of fruit is extensive and general.

SMALL POX.

Considerable excitement exists here and elsewhere in this upper country in relation to small pox, caused by the appearance of the disease in the person of a new comer, living now about eight miles below here across the river. Also by the coming among us from below of persons who have been discharged from treatment on sufficient recovery, but who bear evidences from scarred visages of the dreadful scourge. A year and a half ago we had a painful siege of the small pox here, as all Oregon remembers, and vaccination was indulged in so thoroughly and generally that the disease stands no show to get a foothold again so soon. Our people should remember that small pox is now going the rounds of the cities of the United States, and has lately slain tens of thousands in Philadelphia and New York, until finally general vaccination put a stop to the mortality. The lesson, of course, is that vaccination should be thoroughly tried here then there will be no material to work on.

VARIOUS ITEMS.

Miss Mehlig had an audience of two hundred on Monday evening, which is as well as I should expect our town to do, and which might be called a success here. She is said to have played reluctantly to so small a house, and probably revenged herself by cutting short her performance on the three occasions when she gave us a chance to judge her musical powers. As a lady performer she may stand first, but she certainly is not the equal of the great pianists of our age, whom even we Salemites have heard. She seemed to grudge us even what was laid down in the programme, as she only played two or three of the variations of "Home, Sweet Home." The [illegible] that she played well was appreciated and well applauded by a select audience, some of whom rode twenty-five miles on dusty roads, to be present. The assistance rendered by Mrs Gray, Mr. and Mrs. DeFrans and Mr Nesfield was also well appreciated.

Our stock of ice this warm weather comes from a supply laid in a year ago last winter by John G. Wright, and which has kept admirably, as the chunks come out in excellent condition. Last winter the ice crop was a failure, much to the disgust of the dealers and the ice merchants.

Our town is improving considerably. Work is going ahead on the Court House, M. E. Church, Sisters' School and also private residences. One of the most useful improvements made here in a long time is a broad and convenient foot walk over South Mill Creek, on Commercial street, which is independent of that long tunnel of a wagon bridge. This is bound to be a favorite promenade for moon struck youths nights as the [illegible] over the river and the hills, and catch inspiration from the moonlight if there happens to be any.

Additional particulars have been received here of the death of the lamented Harvey Meacham at Lee's Encampment in the Blue Mountains, which show that it was almost an inexplicable fatality. It is a grief beyond expression, to Mr. A. B. Meacham that he was the innocent cause of the sad accident. They two were inseparable in their lives, their interests and their fortunes and Harvey Meacham was a man universally beloved as few men are and absolutely worshipped at home.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars has been in session here for a day or two and talks of completing its business to-day. Some of your well known citizens are here and taking an active interest in the proceedings.

MARION.

The Cincinnati Imposition is the [illegible] with which [illegible] Greeley. Horace has long been wanting somebody to give him position. The Democracy too begin to regard him in his efforts to beguile her as an imposition.—Says the New York World.

If he is ready to come over [illegible] not merely to get our votes but to accept our principles, let him publicly signify it by a recantation as unequivocal as his opposition and abuse have been unrestrained and vituperative. But if his self respect forbids him to thus abase himself and eat his whole record even for the sake of our votes to put him in the high office he covets, how can he expect us to practice a similar self abasement from a lesser motive?

The Herald's Article on Railroads

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

SIR: I notice in the Herald of this morning what is at once surprising and a shame to any one who has any interest in Oregon's welfare. The editor of the Herald has, it is true, not long been a citizen here and has, I dare say, attained but a small acquaintance with the wishes of the people here and with Oregon's true interests. Mr. Holladay is maligned in a leading article in the paper [illegible] and the animosity of the writer of the article has [illegible] to the extent of [illegible] the State [illegible] Shan [illegible] warfare [illegible] attacks [illegible] swiftly against [illegible] will have it truly reported [illegible] [illegible] gotten.

I have lived in Oregon twenty years and in all that time I have not seen as much [illegible] of Oregon [illegible] in this one article of the Herald this morning. If the condition of the country is what is represented in that article, foolish indeed then have been the capitalists who [illegible] their money in building railroads within our State. [illegible] the entire length of the Herald's article. A single [illegible] obviously one intending well and who has but recently come among us should [illegible] overlook [illegible] our whole young State and the development of its resources ought not [illegible] be excused.

What if bonds have been sold? Does the Herald think Mr. Holladay did not sell his bonds as high as he could? And if he did not, does the Herald think it is justified there by in spreading abroad a statement derogatory to the investments of capital already made here, or disparagingly of any more capital coming within our State? What if British enterprise in order to secure [illegible] their [illegible] railroad bonds have been compelled to procure government endorsement: does the Herald think the United States Government ought to endorse our railroad bonds therefore?

The resolution was [illegible] stricken out of the Democratic State platform which favored reasonable Government aid to railroads in order to comply with the wishes of the Herald. Is it now sick of that piece of work?

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

ELECTION RETURNS

Jackson County.

JACKSONVILLE, June 12.—Burnett's official majority in Jackson county is 2. There were 1,517 votes cast for Congressman. Neal, Dem., has 380 majority for Prosecuting Attorney. The following are the Republican majorities: McKenzie for Sheriff 106; Dunn for Clerk 103; Walker for Representative 167 over Klippel, Dem.; Langell for Representative 110 over Klippel, Dem.; Baker for Treasurer 108. The balance of the Republican ticket have nearly the same majority.

The Umpqua Ensign [illegible] over the result of the election and rails [illegible]. The voice of the people say farewell [illegible] where the little grave on the [illegible] where the woodbine twineth. The pall bearers of Oregon Democracy feel lonely since [illegible] their boom, they went up the flume on June 3d.

Remarkable Cure of Mr Abram Tully

[illegible] August [illegible]

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.: Sirs—In the year [illegible] I was taken down with Inflammatory Rheumatism, and I was for some time treated by physicians but got no better. I tried nearly every remedy I heard of, but nothing seemed to do me any good until about two weeks ago, I was advised by Judge J. Johnston to try your SNAKE WEED REMEDY. I procured one bottle and was entirely cured. For six weeks before taking the SNAKE WEED I was compelled to go upon crutches. I consider your remedy a great blessing to suffering humanity, and shall [illegible] Yours [illegible]

CALIFORNIA —The steamer California reached this port from San Francisco yesterday afternoon after a tedious passage of nearly nine days Some apprehension had been felt on the account of her being so many days over due The cause of the delay was in consequence of experiencing very strong and constant gales from the north She reached Crescent City, a distance of 230 miles from San Francisco within twenty four hours after sailing At that point she encountered a perfect hurricane until the bar was reached. For several days no headway at all was made against the wind and waves with all the strength of her machinery At last the Columbia was reached and she proceeded without difficulty. A very rough time is reported among the passengers although there was no lack of [illegible] or courtesy on the part of the officers of the vessel, who did everything in their power to make the wearisome voyage pleasant and as speedy as possible.

ABOVE LOW WATER —The Columbia river is now 23 feet above low water mark at Vancouver Grave apprehensions are entertained that the river will do great damage to the prospects of farmers should it continue to rise Along down the river are large regions of farming lands which are lower than the banks, and covered with promising crops of grain and grass A foot more water would submerge hundreds of acres of such lands Total ruin of the crops would accordingly follow No wonder that the farmers should regard the rise or fall of the waters with the keenest anxiety, as but a few inches of earth is all that separates the results of a season's labors from destruction

CELEBRATION AT HUBBARD —The citizens in the vicinity of Hubbard Station, along the line of the O. & C R R, are making extensive preparations to celebrate the coming Fourth Five acres have been cleared out in a pleasant grove, and a platform for dancing and a music stand has been constructed. Tables for dispensing eatables which will be provided in abundance and other conveniences have been arranged Judge Grimm will be President of the day Chas E Warren Vice President, and John Dimmick Chief Marshal. The Aurora band will be in attendance Invitations are tendered to citizens from abroad to unite and participate in the celebration

FIRE AT WALLA WALLA —By a dispatch from Walla Walla, we learn that another destructive conflagration swept over that town on last Tuesday afternoon The fire was discovered about 3 o'clock, and in a short time consumed one dwelling house, two warehouses and one blacksmith shop. The total loss is estimated at $12 000 Messrs Paine Bros & Moore are the principal losers The origin of the fire was not stated We are also unable to state whether the property destroyed was insured at all, or for what amount A stiff gale was blowing at the time of the fire

TESTED —The boiler of the steamer Mary Bell was tested yesterday by the Boiler Inspector Jas Lotan It was subjected to a heavy hydraulic pressure and stood the test without straining a bolt, or giving evidence of weakness. The hull was also thoroughly inspected by Capt Flanders, and pronounced safe. The Mary Bell is being thoroughly overhauled under the superintendence of [illegible], her hull re-caulked and the machinery [illegible]. When ready she will be placed on the lower route.

OVERHAULED —The 'dipper' of the dredger was brought up from down the river yesterday to the Willamette Iron Works for repairs By use the "dipper" has been battered up by contact with the logs and stones so that repairs to it are necessary During the present high water the dredger has suspended operations The entire machinery will be overhauled under the superintendence of Mr D E Buchanon Every thing will be in readiness to resume dredging as soon as the water subsides

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION —The long postponed moonlight excursion to be given by Multnomah Lodge, I. O G. T, will come off to morrow evening The steamer Vancouver has been chartered for the occasion She will leave Flanders wharf at 6 o'clock P M. The boat will go to Vancouver, and remaining a few minutes, will return A band will accompany the excursion Ice cream and refreshments will be served to those who may desire. A very pleasant time may be anticipated

FINE SHEEP —By the steamer California there were brought to this city by Mr McKellar 28 bucks of the Lincolnshire breed They came from New Zealand direct These sheep produce a very fine grade of wool, and are brought here to improve the more common breeds. The fleece from these sheep average from 15 to 20 pounds each They are offered for sale to whoever may wish to purchase On the way up two head were lost.

NOT SUBSIDIZED —We are informed on good authority that the steamer Carrie which it was reported had been subsidized by the Vancouver [illegible] boat Company, has not been paid anything by that company The Carrie will not probably be placed on as an opposition boat but it is not attributable to the fact that she has been subsidized.

PERSONAL —Among the passengers on board the John L Stephens, now on the way to this port we observe the names of M Gray, the music dealer, A J. Dufur, Delegate to the Centennial Anniversary, on his return home and Mrs Sawtelle who has recently graduated at the Bellevue Medical College, New York.

RETURNED —General Rufus Saxton Chief Quartermaster of the Department of the Interior, United States Army returned to his city Tuesday, after an official visit of several months to the [illegible] He is in good health and has already entered upon the discharge of his official duties

ONEONTA —This fine steamer after having been overhauled from top to bottom, at the bone yard and re-painted throughout, was launched yesterday and took a trip down the river The officers of the company and a few invited guests accompanied the party.

THE CALIFORNIA —The following passengers arrived on the California, which reached this port Tuesday afternoon Geo Hart P McKellar, Miss S Wilson, J W Tyler, J Kelly, O W Devoll, wife and child, C Erater and wife, A W Smith, J M Watson.

AN OLD PORTLANDER —The dispatches announce the death of Joseph Butler in San Francisco. Mr Butler resided some years ago in this city, where he conducted the hatter business He is well known to many of the old residents of Portland.

CORRECT VOTE —All the reports heretofore given in any of the papers in regard to the vote received by District Attorney Geo H Durham in this county has been incorrect The correct official vote is, Durham, 1 501 Bellinger 1 226

FILED HIS BONDS —Herman W Davis, elected Justice of the Peace for Madison Precinct filed his official bonds in the sum of $3 000 with the County Clerk to day [illegible] I Ward and M. P Mulkey are his sureties

REALIZED —The sum of $2 0 was realized from the concert given at the Masonic Hall for the benefit of the Ladies Relief Society

NO COUNCIL —The required number of Councilmen to constitute a quorum, failing to be present last evening, there was no Council

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRICAL —Tennyson's great poem of "Dora," dramatised by Chas Reade, was produced last evening at the Theater for the first time The play is among the best yet offered to the public, and it is to be sincerely regretted that it was no better patronized The same piece will be repeated this evening, when it is to be hoped that a crowded house will greet its second appearance

SOLDIERS —The California brought from San Francisco a company of fifty soldiers They were taken away on the same steamer for Sitka at which place they are to be stationed

WILL PLEAD —A J Moses, indicted for forgery, and G W Butler, for adultery, were allowed until this morning to plead to the respective charges in the Circuit Court

BRANCHING OUT —Persons living in the southern end of the city have certainly observed an innovation at 140 First st cor between Yamhill and Taylor This change has been made by Quinn, the well known dealer in Fish Game and Poultry who opened this stall as a branch establishment, where at all times full supplies of every thing in his particular line can be found At the old stand—Washington street between First and Second—the usual supply of Fish Game and Poultry can be had at any time Orders left at either place will be promptly filled

INFORMATION —When one purchases an article it invariably pays to spend time and take a little trouble to find the best place to buy It is both an expensive and an annoying practice to buy at the first place [illegible] But there [illegible] can save much trouble [illegible] that [illegible] Clothing or Furnishing [illegible] a few minutes [illegible]

HOTELS, RESTAURANTS and Families [illegible] fresh Eastern Clams and other Fish at [illegible] Clark's New Market Front street between A and B streets where they keep only the best

Sudden Changes in the weather are productive of Throat Diseases Coughs and Colds. There is no more effectual remedy to be found than in the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches"

THE COLORED VOTE —A great deal is said about the power of Mr Greeley with the colored vote against General Grant as the regular nominee of the Republicans It may as well perhaps be added that a large portion of this talk comes from men who know almost absolutely nothing of the matter

In the first place the colored people of the South are almost to a man Republicans In the second place they look to the Philadelphia Convention as the convention of the party In the third place they are well organized and beyond this they are as true [illegible] [illegible] for the party ticket as were the Democrats in the palmy days of their party A moment's reflection will show the reason of their not only being Republicans but of the strictest straightest kind They know that so far as they owe anything to mere party organizations for whatever of liberty of civil and political privilege they enjoy that debt is due to the Republican party, and they know that they must look to this party for the more complete destruction of caste and its bitterness They will go with their party Greeley would get hardly a handful of colored votes in any of the Southern States Greeley's past service for liberty and humanity are gratefully remembered but hand and glove with their oppressors the Democrats he would be a very bitter pill for Southern colored republicans to swallow

But even if it were a mere question of men and not of party and principle they would also remember what they owe to Gen Grant Greeley happens not to monopolize everything that has been done for the colored citizen

PATENT GAS COMPANY The Mining Magazine Review of London April 20th contains a notice of a new invention which promises to open a new era in gas manufacture, and of which an eminent gas engineer says This process must sooner or later be adopted by all existing companies The inventor claims as its chief advantage as compared with the gas supplied by all existing companies that it has but six grains maximum of sulphur impurities per 100 cubic feet, and gives 11 500 feet of 20 candle gas per ton of coal in lieu of 1,500 cubic feet of 14 candle as given by the ordinary process In other words an illuminating power of 46 000 standard sperm candles instead of 26 090, being a net gain of light equivalent to 721 per cent The cost of production by the patent process being sixteen pence per 1,000 cubic feet as compared with twenty one pence the cost of the ordinary process

George Francis Train is in trouble In fact he was never out of trouble, for he always manages to have a new difficulty of some sort lap over the edges of the old and preserve the historic continuity of his grief His latest sorrow is nothing short of a positive persecution George has a taking face of the fiercely smart type, and being proud of it he has photographs put on his envelopes like a coat of arms But the cruel Postmaster at Omaha, one of the minions of Grant who regards Mr Train as his particular enemy and most dreadful rival, sets his vile defacing stamp upon the image of the People's Candidate making a black and ugly blur of what was intended to be a thing of beauty and a plea for votes. It is too bad for Mr Train

WHY ARE TIMES HARD —People talk about hard times and well they may An exchange ventures a few plain words on the situation, and here they are for the benefit of our readers We are fast becoming a nation of schemers to live without genuine work Our boys are not learning trades our farmers' sons are crowding into cities, looking for clerkships and post offices hardly one American girl in each hundred will do housework for wages, however urgent her need, so we are sending to Europe for workmen and buying of her artisans millions's worth of products that we ought to make for ourselves We must turn over a new leaf

Berlin has a hotel on the American plan—curly haired gentlemanly, and urbane clerk with diamond pin and all

TO-NIGHT before going home, step into that well known Clothing house of J. O'Neil & Co and leave your order for a suit of summer clothing and depend upon it entire satisfaction will be given While there, examine their excellent stock of furnishing goods The prices are so low that no persons need trouble themselves about calling elsewhere for better bargains. Don't pass 95 First street when you have occasion to buy anything in their line O Neil & Co. will not be undersold by any house in town

THE UMATILLA HOUSE at The Dalles is now completed and furnished in every respect unsurpassed The office is the most cheerful and pleasant in the State, and the dining hall is unequaled The rooms are all newly furnished The house has twelve suites of rooms with stoves in them for families The new house stands much higher than the old one The ceilings are four feet higher which adds greatly to the cheerfulness of the rooms The table is kept in a style to correspond fully with the appointments.

A PERFECT FIT —At the emporium of fashion of Fishel & Roberts a cutter from New York City has arrived and is prepared to measure those desirous of procuring themselves in the latest style As this firm has a large assortment of cloths and one of the best cutters on the coast the purchaser can be fitted to everything that is desirable to make a suit complete in every detail. When you conclude to buy clothing or furnishing goods, remember the southwest corner of Washington and First streets

WAR SCHOOL BOOKS RETAILED AT PUBLISHERS' prices, by
CHAS C BARRETT, 79 Front st

WHAT THE NEW ORGANIST DID

It nearly divided the church The pew owners were indignant the deacons protested Parson Mildmay poured what little oil he had upon the troubled waters and the choir resigned The old meeting house was rocked to its foundations And in this turmoil because the music committee had at the suggestion of the organist put a cornet player beside the organ to lead the congregational singing

Dreadful proposal was it not? The idea of having a horn in church A French horn You know what wicked people the French are Think of having the same instrument they use in the Jar—well you know as well as I that some folks are no better than they ought to be A French horn indeed Think of it! No wonder Deacon Pipples said that the rising generation was a wayward generation, seeking after ungodly inventions

Now, you know my views I don't care what instrument we use in church provided we praise God musically and soberly as we ought If a horn or violin will help us I go for it Deacon Squaggles said I ought to be ashamed

I laughed and told him that if I read the Scriptures right, David danced before the Lord, and advised the temple choir to use cymbals—even the loud sounding cymbals

He shook his head and said there were grave doubts about that passage Perhaps the word dance translated meant something else.

"Hop," I suggested

The deacon went away sorrowful, and said I was a backslider

It's not a long story let me tell it to you

We had sat under a lady organist for years wt under in a figurative sense We had groaned weekly under her weekly inflictions for a long time She was short well, how can I tell it?—her feet did not touch the pedals.

The effect was peculiar The organ seemed ready to topple over every Sunday. Some folks said the organ had no bass notes Bless you! What did they know about it? They could not tell one tune from another

She, the organist, had a weakness for the reeds. The reed-stops, as you know have their little weakness, like the rest of us Their particular weakness is to get out of tune. "Never mind," said she. "They are sweetly pretty after the long prayer Make me think of angels, in long clothes, singing through a cloud."

Her voluntaries were remarkable She harassed the parson, and kept everybody on the alert, for who could tell when she was going to stop. Every other minute we said "This is the end—the closing chord has come." But no, it had not. More closing chords had followed, till we were near distracted with hope deferred

At last some benevolent young man had the goodness to marry her and take her away Bless him! How heartily we congratulate him—and ourselves.

We could not blame heaven for giving her short l—bs, but then, she might at least have played something besides her own compositions, and could have safely neglected her beloved trumpets and oboes

The next Sunday the man came. He was a stout fellow, and his coat had very long sleeves, and his trowsers were extra large They were none too long to be becoming He could reach anything in the shape of keys stops or pedal, manage the swell, draw the top right hand stop, and play on the lower bank at the same instant. Clever man, they said. Clever in both the English and American senses.

The first Sunday he presided the folks said that the committee had repaired the organ It had not sounded so well for a long time Its deep and majestic tones shook the air pervaded the church with solemn harmonies, and made Deacon Squaggles' youngest cry He is not a precocious child, and did not ask to see the monkey.

The music that day was a revelation to most of the people, and there was a satisfied buzz among the folks on the steps when the church was out. Things improved from week to week. One or two who had backslid of late really came to church half a day—came to hear the music. Deacon Squaggles reproved their motives, and accepted their re-[illegible] pew rent complaisantly.

About the fifth Sunday after the new administration Parson Mildmay announced that the last hymn would be sung by the congregation. With fear and trembling they listened to hear what tune would be given out After the first bar their fears were allayed. There was no mistaking the melody of "Duke Street," played distinctly and accurately on a single loud stop. At the end the people struggled to their feet and the singing began. The result was peculiar, and not lovely. Did I not feel sure that you know all about it, I would give you a detailed description of it. Congregational noise! You have heard it. Doesn't congregational singing always remind you of those famous lines concerning the little girl who,

> "When she was good, she was very, very good,
> And when she was bad she was horrid!"

The sermon was lost that day The people went home to their dinners dissatisfied, and hoped it wouldn't be tried again

The next Sunday evening brought the explosion. It was announced in the morning that there would be an extra service of song at half past [illegible]

At [illegible] the church was full, at half-past crowded. Word had got about that something peculiar might be expected Many [illegible] and others came in. "To scoff," Deacon Pipples said. Would they remain to sing? Perhaps so.

The service was opened by reading, and a set piece by the choir. Then Mr. Jones chairman of the music committee, rose, and to our amazement, called the organist from his seat and introduced him to us Our organ is behind the pulpit, just where it ought to be. Everybody woke up, and you might have heard a pin drop.

The young man bowed and spoke as follows: "My friends We meet here every week for prayer and praise. We come to lift our [illegible] to heaven in thankfulness and joy For [illegible] we have the organ, the most noble instrument in the world, in all our churches, and trained choirs sing the praise of the Lord with the best skill and art the world has discovered.

"The church has always aimed to command the best music, believing that the best is none too good for God's service In this [illegible] of art there is great danger of going to [illegible]. The trained choir should be [illegible] everywhere, and not to the exclusion of the people. The inspired command 'let all the people praise the Lord,' is sadly neglected of late.

"We have in our search for high art, delegated our praise giving to paid singers and we [illegible]—God by proxy.

"My friends, these things ought not so to be. We should all sing Let the choir lead, all join [illegible] in the solemn psalm or cheerful song of thanksgiving. I am aware that the congregational singing is viewed with disgust by many It is sometimes very bad, and often [illegible] more than elevates. This need not be so if one or two rules are observed Let me give them to you:

"Firstly. Let all sing, young and old No matter how it sounds to you, sing with confidence [illegible]

"Secondly. Do not attempt to sing parts Let all sing the melody. Let those who think they can sing tenor, alto or bass give up their parts, and join the sopranos in singing the air or melody Of course the gentlemen will sing it one octave lower than the ladies. The organ will give the harmony the voices the song By the aid of these rules our singing will be easy and effective

"Now to help you I will have the melody played upon a cornet This instrument and organ will play the tune over, and then after an instant's pause, all join in singing"

If a thunderbolt had split the gilded cockerel on the steeple and rung the fire alarm bell we could not have been more electrified The people with one consent sat down in a puddle of discontent and horror Deacon Squaggles leaned his head on his hand and groaned aloud. Parson Mildmay looked dubious, and we were variously much shocked The organ and the cornet began It sounded well, and some of us were inwardly set up with much joy. Then the congregation rose as one man resolved to extinguish the desecrating instrument—resolved to sing the thing down

We sang Old Hundred through twice Such a tremendous volume of one had never heard in the church before The grand old tune fairly shook the house When it was finished we sat down I looked round, and found the deacon's wife wiping her eyes furtively Some irreverent person rapped on the floor with a cane—just a timid little rap but applause certainly Deacon Pipples' little boy said audibly Hurra [illegible] that The last word was extinguished by a fatherly hand

The parson read two verses and then the hymn His voice trembled and he seemed peculiarly happy That splendid old tune of [illegible] (Handel) was played I could believe in horns and trumpets When the glowing [illegible] rang bravely through the church everybody rose and seized the hymn books with [illegible] determination to do their best

[illegible] everybody sang. What [illegible] ringing, the [illegible] for everything [illegible] In the [illegible] between the verses there was a profound hush The people felt that at last they were really praising God with heart and soul The second verse was even more successful than the first Everybody felt warmed up to the work The congregation had made a discovery It could sing

When it was over Parson Mildmay leaned over the desk and said "Brother Squaggles, let us sing all the verses"

Well! From that night congregational singing and the cornet player were a fixed part of our service At first as I said it nearly split the church The choir resigned (resignation not accepted) and a small tempest raged for two weeks among the people The church was divided into cornetists and anti cornetists The cornetists carried the day The storm cleared away, and now all was serene The unsold pews found a market Seats in the church became scarce Even the gallery filled up and Parson Mildmay is happy over a large growing congregation The dear old deacons lament the cause but rejoice in the prosperity of the church —Charles Barnard

The Alta of the 5th says

The export of Treasure has this year in May been $4 000 000 more than during the same period last year Of this amount, it appears, $10 846 507 has been gold coin a significant fact when we remember that gold coin is the least profitable mode of transmitting treasure The bars exported have been mostly silver, and the miscellaneous mostly foreign coins. The price of gold and of exchange has advanced under this drain The amount due Europe is very large, and almost the sole dependence for meeting the payments is in the sale of securities—in other words, borrowing the money This fact makes the exchange and gold market exceedingly sensitive to the diplomatic relations of this country with Europe, and also in relation to the position of Germany in respect of France Messrs. Jay Cooke & Co, of New York, in a late circular state

The recent advance of the Bank of England rate to 5 per cent. under gold drafts to Germany caused a check to the borrowing of money which has not been removed by the subsequent decline to four per cent, because the uncertainty still remains There is a sense of uncertainty when events like that of the United States and Spanish steamers at Aspinwall occur The vessels it appears, cleared for action shotted the guns sanded the decks, beat to quarters and apparently nothing but the superior speed of the Convoy placing her beyond reach of the Pizarro, prevented an action which might have involved the Governments These uncertainties take their importance from the fact that the support of the foreign trade has for years and does now depend upon borrowing The spare bonds of the Federal Government are all sold by States cities counties and corporations are active borrowers so far as the powers to do so exists That power depends upon peace and an abundance of money abroad to lend

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 1st says

The prospectus of the Trans-Pacific Steam Navigation Company lately organized in London with a capital of £750 000 to run a line of steamers between San Francisco Yokohama and Hongkong with feeders to Shanghai and British Columbia, contemplates the construction of three first-class steamships for the main line at a cost of £500,000 to take the northerly route reducing the distance 500 miles and the running time between San Francisco and Yokohama to 16 days instead of the present schedule of 22 days Edward Henry Green Director of the London and San Francisco Bank is named as one of the Directors and that Bank is chosen as one of the financial agents

The same paper of the 5th says

The cool moist weather of the past week has helped the later crops of grain wonderfully The rain over a considerable area was sufficient to moisten the surface of the earth for two or three inches Wheat that was becoming prematurely yellow revived the heads will fill up better and fill out better The pastures will also be helped The rain has knocked down some heavy grain but on the whole the damage is much more than balanced by the gain to pastures and new crops An observer has only to watch his own garden or that of his neighbor to find how rapid has been the growth of all plants and shrubs during the last two weeks This favorable change of the weather has produced like results over a considerable part of the State Had there been a week of drying north winds just at this time much of the late sown grain would not have headed out or at least would hardly have been worth cutting Another week of as favorable weather would help out the late sown wheat so far that very little of it would be a failure In many of the small valleys it was impossible on account of the floods to sow early many fields were therefore sown as late as the last week of February and the first week of March Wet weather would increase the chances of rust but as yet we hear of no complaints in that score The early hay in this country invariably cut has a shower and there has been no exception to this rule this year
